Enabling Seamless 5G Content Settlement

Easy and seamless adoption of 5G poses some unique challenges for communication service providers in any market. Apart from the network level challenges, service providers need to maintain stable relationships with a large content ecosystem, which includes various types of content owners and aggregators. Honouring various contract level parameters and settling all relationships in time are key for the success of any service provider in today's market.

Key challenges for service providers in maintaining 5G content ecosystem
